

SUSPECTED DILLINGER FRIEND LEAPS TO DEATH

HEAT WAVE IN MIDDLE WEST BROKEN TODAY

1215 Human Lives Exacted by Heat During Past Week

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Widespread showers fell throughout the great central portion of the nation and were followed generally today by considerably cooler temperatures, breaking the back of the heat wave which had held the nation in its grip for more than a week, claiming 1215 lives.

A storm of hurricane proportions swept into Texas from the Gulf, took an additional estimate of 30 lives and caused hundreds of thousands of dollars in crop and property damages. A tidal wave which accompanied the 80 miles an hour winds wrecked havoc along the coastline.

Rain, severely needed in the drought stricken area, helped stem the devastation in the grain belt and prices of all cereals on the Chicago Board of Trade were lower. Market experts pointed out, however, that in many sections crops had suffered irreparably and moisture at this time would be of little assistance.

Deaths by States

Unofficial tabulations showed these death figures by states for the entire period of the present torrid blast:

Missouri 330; Illinois 319; Ohio 127; Nebraska 60; Iowa 72; Minnesota 32; Indiana 54; Kansas 39; Kentucky 43; Michigan 23; Wisconsin 15; Pennsylvania 18; Texas 13; Oklahoma 11; South Dakota 7; West Virginia 12; New York 4; Tennessee 3; Massachusetts 3; Connecticut 4; District of Columbia 3; Alabama 3; Maryland 3; Arkansas 3; Rhode Island 3; South Carolina 1; and Virginia 1.

Of the Illinois dead, 98 perished yesterday in Chicago alone, including twelve aged wards of the county at the Oak Forest infirmary, where 31 have died since Sunday.

Relief came yesterday to most of the north central states, and to scattered sections of the central, middle and southwestern areas, where drought losses have been especially heavy. More relief in parts of the middle west and east was predicted for today.

Extremely high temperatures dotted yesterday's weather map. Kansas City had a high mark of 108; Indianapolis 104; Omaha 100; Chicago 93; Springfield, Ill., 102; Pittsburgh 9; Des Moines 100; Cincinnati 106; and Emporia, Kan., 115.

STATE READINGS

Springfield, Ill., July 26.—(AP)—The heat wave relaxed a trifle today and it was uncertain whether the thermometer would reach 100 degrees. It was 92 at Springfield at 10 a. m., with cooler weather forecast.

For six days, the average maximum temperature here has been 105 degrees and the mean temperature 94.

Light and scattered showers were reported, but they were insufficient to stop heat and drought damage in some sections of Illinois.

New Burnside reported an official high temperature of 110 degrees yesterday, while federal meteorologist E. W. Holcomb announced it was 108 at Ottawa and Kankakee; 104 at Rockford, Galva, Havana, Urbana and Cairo; 102 at Dixon, Peoria, Springfield and Hillsboro and 100 at Effingham and Olney.

OMAHA STREET CAR OPERATORS STRIKE AGAIN

Displeased With Decision of Board of Arbiters

Omaha, Neb., July 26.—(AP)—Union employees of the Omaha & Council Bluffs Street Railway Company, approximately 400 in number, walked out on strike at 4 A. M. today and on the second time in four months the city's workers walked to work or thumb-rides down town with motorists.

The executive board of the union last night voted to call the strike. The union as a whole had voted in favor of striking at a meeting two weeks ago. Last April the men staged their first strike but went back to work after agreeing to submit their case to a board of arbitration. They were out four days.

The board of arbitration, reporting a tie score between two weeks ago, recommended raises of three cents an hour for tram and bus operators and denied other raises. The decision displeased the union men.

In voting last night to call the strike today, union officials said the move was made because of "continued discrimination" of company officials against union men, denying that wages had anything to do with the action.

Austrian Nazis' Coup, During Which Dollfuss, "Gamecock Chancellor" was Murdered, is Failure: Killers Held

His Followers Keep Control; Europe Breathes Easier

BULLETIN.
Rome, July 26.—(AP)—A high official of the foreign office told the Associated Press a movement today of Italian troops toward the Austrian frontier constitutes an affirmation, directed at Germany, that Italy will not tolerate foreign interference in Austria's domestic affairs.

BULLETIN.
Vienna, July 26.—(AP)—Rumors circulating abroad that Italian troops had crossed the Austrian border were emphatically denied today by the Austrian foreign office as being "absolutely unfounded."

It was unofficially stated today that Premier Mussolini of Italy is expected to come here to attend the funeral for the assassinated Chancellor Dollfuss Saturday.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

With the anti-Nazi Prince Ernst von Starhemberg heading the government of Austria, succeeding the anti-Nazi Engelbert Dollfuss, other European capitals, concerned over who controls the powderbox nation, breathed easier today.

A British authority in London said that Great Britain, Italy, and France believed the Austrian Nazis had killed their hopes for popularity when they killed Dollfuss and that none of the three nations would take new action to defend the independence of Austria.

The reaction in other capitals was:

Rome—Italian troops were ordered to the Austro-Italian border, but it was explained that this was merely a precautionary measure since the authorities believed the Austrian government would be able to handle its internal situation without outside help; at the same time, the authoritative newspaper Giornale d'Italia, in an apparently "inspired" editorial, declared Chancellor Hitler of Germany supported violence in Austria to distract the German people from a contemplation of their own domestic difficulties.

Paris—Premier Doumergue reiterated that Austria must be kept independent.

Berlin—German officials sent their condolences to Austria and in Munich an unconfirmed rumor spread that Chancellor Hitler actually has gone there to prevent a march of Nazis into Austria; The German minister to Austria was recalled.

Nazi forces battled government troops for possession of half a dozen cities in Styria. Casualties were believed to be heavy. The government rushed reinforcements.

Dr. Anton Rintelen, minister to Rome who was jailed after yesterday's putsch which resulted in the assassination of Chancellor Dollfuss, died of bullet wounds in his cell. Authorities said he killed himself, but his widow said he was murdered.

Friends of Rintelen, including General Wagner of the army, were arrested. Rumors said Wagner had killed himself. The Nazis who killed Dollfuss were prisoners in a military barracks.

Pope Expresses Grief
Vice Chancellor von Starhemberg, who apparently is in a dominant position as leader of the Fascist Heimwehr, or home guard, arrived in Vienna from Venice and immediately went into conference with President Miklas and other leaders.

Pope Pius expressed grief over the "criminal assassination" of Dollfuss, who was a personal friend.

Germany appeared anxious to avoid suspicion of interference in Austria and recalled her minister to Vienna for what was described as his unauthorized intervention for Nazis yesterday. But in Munich there was open rejoicing among Nazis.

Czechoslovakian official sources were quoted from Praha as saying that the Little Entente would continue.

Thirty Believed Killed Late Yesterday in Hurricane Along Texas Coast; Crops Damaged

Houston, Tex., July 26.—(AP)—A death list that may reach more than 30 was indicated today as the Texas coast country from Galveston to Corpus Christi dug out from the wreckage of yesterday's 80-mph-an-hour hurricane.

The property and crop damage was counted at hundreds of thousands of dollars.

The heaviest loss of life was believed to have been around Bay City. Carey Smith, editor of the Bay City Tribune, said about 17 persons were missing in the Bay City and Sargent area.

They were all believed to have been swept to death when a tidal wave rushed over the lowlands for a distance of six miles inland.

Ten persons were missing in the Matagorda Bay area.

Five persons were killed and another injured probably fatally in a tornado which wrecked the farming community of Morelos, Jackson county, late yesterday.

The tornado apparently was a phase of the hurricane.

CHARLES YINKEY FOURTH VICTIM OF HEAT STROKE

Pennsylvanian, Called by Death of His Brother, is Dead

The intense heat wave claimed its fourth victim in two days in this vicinity yesterday afternoon, when Charles Yinkey was stricken and died almost instantly at the home of his recently deceased brother, John Yinkey, east of the city limits on state highway, route 2. The deceased was called to Dixon June 30 by the passing of his brother, well known mason contractor who succumbed to a lingering illness.

He had spent much of the day yesterday working about the yard, mowing the grass and pulling weeds. About 4:30 members of the Illinois Central switch crew, who were returning from the cement plant stopped at the rear of the Yinkey property, while members of the engine crew went to the Yinkey well to secure a jug of water. They were reported to have seen Mr. Yinkey stagger and fall in the yard and assisted in removing him to a shaded spot. Will Hanson, a neighbor was in the yard at the time and remained until the body was removed.

A physician was summoned and Sheriff Fred Richardson called to the scene, but death had taken place before either arrived. The body was ordered removed to the Preston mortuary.

Heat prostration was found to have caused death at the inquest conducted by Coroner Frank M. Barker at the mortuary this morning. The body was sent today to his home at Somerset, Pa., for burial. The deceased is survived by three brothers, Christ, Henry and one sister, Mrs. Louise Miller of Somerset, Pa., and Frank of Edgar, Neb.

Fascists Mounted to Rule of Powder-box Nation

By WADE WERNER
(Copyright, 1934, by The Associated Press)

Vienna, July 26.—The power of the Austrian Fascists, allied in ideals and friendships to the Fascists of Italy, mounted to the rule of Austria today.

Prince Ernst von Starhemberg, tall nobleman and leader of the Fascist Heimwehr, was announced as the new chancellor, succeeding the little commoner, Engelbert Dollfuss, who was assassinated yesterday by the Fascists' bitterest foes, the Nazis. President Wilhelm Miklas was expected to make the formal appointment of Von Starhemberg today.

But even as the Fascist star ascended, civil war blazed forth in the province of Styria where Nazis battled government forces for control of villages. Early reports did not tell how many men were being killed although an official announcement at Graz, capital of the province, said 14 government soldiers were slain.

Scene of Bombings

Styria has for months past been the scene of terrorist bombings and arson, violence had claimed, by the Nazis whom he fought in his efforts to create a "united fatherland."

Everywhere were expressed rumors and fears for the peace of Europe as a result of the stirring events of yesterday and today. Armed men were everywhere in a strenuous effort to maintain order.

As his first statement as chief of the Cabinet, Prince von Starhemberg said only that the government policy will be to carry on the work begun by Dollfuss.

The first act of the cabinet when it met under its new leader was to vote an authorization for "appropriate" financial measures for the future welfare of Dollfuss' widow and his two children, five-year-old Eva and four-year-old Rudolf.

Then the cabinet declared the creation of a special military court to try the offenders in yesterday's putsch, when a group of Nazis stormed the chancellery and killed the country's leader. The court will consist of four officers, one of the civil guard and three of the army, the highest ranking of whom will preside.

The government, it was indicated, will act sternly against the killers of its former leader, but apart from this punishment, it was indicated that one of the subjects of concern was that of relationship with other countries as a result of the murder.

A report which was not immediately confirmed from the province of Carinthia declared Yugoslavian soldiers had fired across the Austrian border and Austrian troops had been concentrated there as a result.

It was known that 75,000 Italian troops were massed on the southern border where they have been held for the last year in readiness in case of border troubles.

The anxiety of Italy in this situation was regarded officially, as well as by the man on the street, as intense. For Premier Mussolini had telegraphed his sincere condolences from Riccione where today he was to have conferred with Dollfuss.

Dixon Youth Sent to State Farm for Period of 3 Months

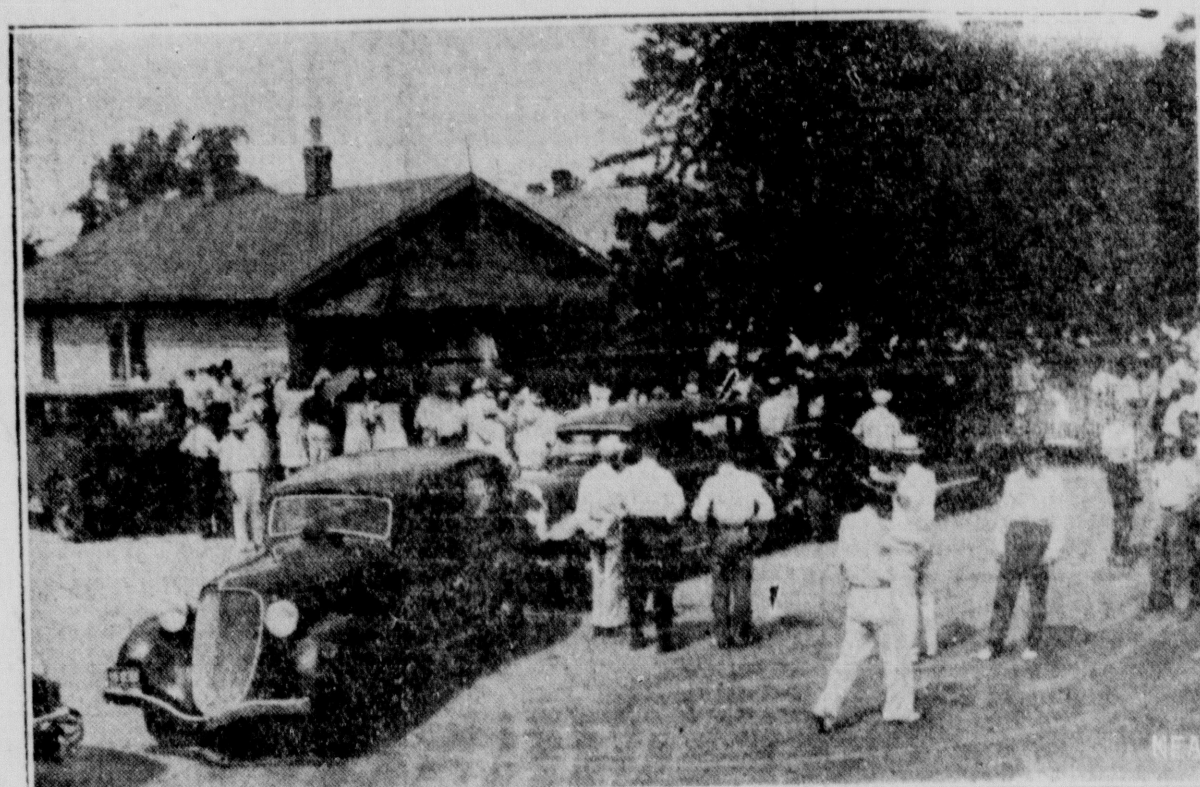

Romeo Blackburn, 21, this city, was arrested by Chief of Police J. D. Van Bibber this morning, following complaints of a minor injury of terror on Depot avenue in Dementown last evening about 7 o'clock. Taken into the county court on an information charging him with driving an automobile while in an intoxicated condition, Judge Leech sentenced Blackburn to the state farm at Joliet for a period of 90 days. A fine of $250 and costs, ordering that the fine and costs be worked out.

Police were called to Dementown last evening when it was reported that Blackburn, who had been in police court on several previous occasions, was threatening to kill any person who approached him. Prior to that time he was said to have created a disturbance in a tavern where he was refused a drink, and then drove wildly on Depot avenue.

EUROPEAN WAR RUMORS CAUSE STOCK DECLINE

Stock Exchange Has Its Worst Spill Today in Nearly Year

New York, July 26.—(AP)—Disturbed by war rumors arising from the Austrian crisis, prices in the New York Stock Exchange today experienced their worst spill in nearly a year.

By early afternoon, many issues were off $1 to $10 a share, and many were at new low prices for 1934. Trading was in the largest volume in months. Price averages indicated that the general level of shares had been reduced to around the low point reached in the reaction of last October, and with that exception, the level was back to that of May, 1933.

Stock started down early, and slid sharply coincident with an expected rumor on the floor of the stock exchange before midday that Italian troops had crossed the Austrian border. The list steadied a little when this went unconfirmed, but slid off again under active selling in the early afternoon.

Union Pacific dropped nearly $6 to close at $102; American Telephone $2 to around $110; U. S. Steel $2 to close at $34; Allied Chemicals more than $7 to close at $121.

Rails were particularly hard hit evidently due in part to expectations that freight traffic will be curtailed by the drought.

MARTIAL LAW IS DECLARED TODAY IN MINNEAPOLIS

Violence Crops Out in the Chicago Stockyards Strike

Minneapolis, July 26.—(AP)—Four thousand National Guardsmen were ordered to place Minneapolis under military rule today by Gov. Floyd B. Olson after warring factions in the truck drivers strike failed to agree on final peace plans submitted them by federal mediators.

The martial rule decree, at 12:20 P. M. Central Standard time, followed by about an hour the acceptance of the peace plan by the Drivers Union, No. 574, and a reply from the employers' advisory committee accepting some terms with reservations but rejecting the wage scale suggested by the Rev. Francis Haas and E. H. Dunnigan, mediators.

Troops Move On

Brig. Gen. E. A. Walsh was immediately appointed by the governor as commander of the troops who will move into the city in force immediately. Some 800 already were stationed inside the boundaries of Minneapolis while the balance of the 4,000 men were stationed at the fair grounds adjacent the city limits and other points nearby.

General Walsh began preparation of regulations to be placed into effect. Previously, the governor had announced courts would function as usual and that only those areas of the city affected by the strike, climaxed last Friday with burst of shotgun fire that wounded one man fatally and most of the 67 others injured in the fray, would be put under control of the troops.

VIOLENCE IN CHICAGO

Chicago, July 26.—(AP)—Sporadic violence cropped out in the Union Stockyards strike, as federal mediators moved swiftly for a settlement of the controversy.

A proposal for a mediation conference, already approved by striking stock handlers was under consideration by officials of the Union Stockyards & Transit Co. But during the four-hour peace conference last night, a guard was felled by a paving brick and the force of guards around the yards—the hub of the world's meat packing industry—was hastily reinforced.

Earlier, a negro workman was slugged unconscious. Two other workmen were injured in the afternoon when a crowd of six men attacked them with clubs and pitchforks.

Details of the proposal were not divulged, but it was generally understood to provide for the return to their jobs of the 800 strikers, while technical demands on working hours, pay and conditions were given more extended study.

CHICAGO MAN WAITING QUIZ AS HARBORER

Plunged From 19th Floor of Federal Building Today

Chicago, July 26.—(AP)—Brought to the office of the U. S. Bureau of Investigation for questioning in connection with the Dillinger case, James Probasco, 67-year-old west side resident, committed suicide today by jumping from a 19th floor window to the alley below.

S. P. Cowley, in charge of the bureau in the absence of Melvin H. Furus, said the government had been informed it was in Probasco's home at 2509 North Crawford Avenue that Dillinger had his face-lifting operation performed.

No one could be found who witnessed the leap, but the body struck the pavement at the mouth of the alley near Adams street. It narrowly missed a pedestrian, R. J. Lambert of Maywood, Ill., who was stained with Probasco's blood. The body was badly mangled.

Deputy Coroner A. L. Brody ordered police to remove the body.

Made No Objections

Agents had gone to Probasco's home this morning and he accompanied them without objections, Cowley said. He was left alone in a room facing the alley for a few minutes before the questioning was to begin.

The next thing the agents knew was a report that a man had leaped to his death.

From their prison, Van Meter, ace machine gunner for the Dillinger gang, also had a face lifting operation performed at the Probasco home. He said the physician who performed the operations had not yet been taken, but that the government agents were after him.

Government operatives also believed that both Dillinger and Van Meter had submitted to attempts at the Probasco place to obliterate their finger prints with acid.

Clever Surgery

When Dillinger's body was placed on a slab in the Cook county morgue Sunday midnight, it was ascertained that scars on his face had been nearly concealed by a clever plastic surgeon. His hair had been dyed a darker hue. His eyes brows relined in an effort to change his widely-known facial appearance. His nose also had been straightened.

From their prisoner, the Federal men apparently sought to obtain more information about Dillinger, Van Meter and possibly John Hamilton and George Nelson, other members of the outfit whom the government has vowed to bring in.

"We have very good evidence that the operations were performed at Probasco's flat," said Cowley. He said Federal agents had found ether, rubber gloves and iodine in the home, as well as a 38 calibre revolver.

Scarcely Questioned

Probasco had been questioned "scarcely at all," the investigator said. He had been under guard all the time until a few minutes before the leap, when the guard stepped from the room for a few minutes.

Cowley said Probasco, who operated a tavern, had made no admissions and had insisted that he knew nothing of the operations. Probasco himself had no medical experience, he said.

The full name of the suicide was given as James Johnston Probasco. He was 67. Police records showed (Continued on Page 2)

Annual Tax Sale to Start in Co. Court Monday, Oct. 8th

County Treasurer Sterling Schrock announced today the annual sale of all delinquent taxes will start in the county court on October 8. To date approximately 75 per cent of the total taxes for Lee county have been paid, and a rush is now being made by delinquents who are paying their taxes to avoid added penalties.

Two Taken Into Co. Court this Morning

An information charging Henry Nearing of this city with the offense of operating an automobile on a public highway while in an intoxicated condition, was filed before Judge Leach in the county court this morning. The action is the result of a wreck near the cement plant last Sunday afternoon which resulted in the injury of several persons. The case is set for hearing Saturday morning.

An information charging Allon Cole, aged 16 of Steward with petty larceny was filed with Judge Leach in the county court this morning and will be heard Friday morning.

Grand Jury Investigation of Illinois Emergency Relief's Activities Ordered by Judge

Chicago, July 26.—(AP)—An investigation of all charges of fraud against the Illinois Emergency Relief Commission's state headquarters here was ordered by Chief Justice Philip J. Sullivan today in a special charge to the July grand jury.

"State's Attorney Courtney has reported to me that widespread frauds have been uncovered by the investigations of the press," said the chief justice.

"These charges include numerous instances of graft and I want you gentlemen to make a true and complete investigation of the situation. Return such indictments as you see fit."

Recently, while a special legislative investigating committee was studying unemployment relief, Chairman Robert J. Dunham of the Illinois Emergency Relief Commission asked State's Attorney Thomas J. Courtney and U. S. District Attorney Dwight H. Green to sift all available evidence.

Charges aired have included the claim that grocers and relief workers have conspired to cash spurious relief orders, and newspaper articles have put the total losses of these frauds at millions.

Where President Roosevelt Will Stay in Hawaii

One of the loveliest sights in the world will greet President Roosevelt as the cruiser Houston enters the harbor of Honolulu. As he rounds Diamond Head (seen at left) the guns of Fort De Russey will boom out the 21-gun presidential salute. The clean, modern skyline of a rambling, modern American city will unfold before him. He will stay at the palatial hotel shown in the center foreground, in a suite once occupied by the King of Siam.

that he had been arrested in 1922 for violation of the prohibition law but had been discharged.

Police said he was formerly the owner of the James Proulx Co. Teaming Company on the north side. Later, they added, he had worked in restaurants and taverns.

Two Months Ago
The plastic surgery was believed to have been performed on Dillinger and Van Meter two months ago, when both were the objects of a hectic nation-wide search.

In Dillinger's case, at least, it was a futile operation. In spite of his altered features and the additional disguise he effected by wearing gold-rimmed spectacles, he was recognized instantly last Sunday night when he stepped up to the ticket window of the Biograph theater and passed in to see a gang film. Melvin Purvis, chief of the Chicago staff of Federal investigators, identified him; then deployed 15 agents about the show house.

The desperado was shot to death as he emerged from the theater.

At the inquest the following day Earl Richmond, Federal agent, said that acid treatments of his finger tips had not precluded definite identification. He said that, although a clever operator had blotted out some of the whorls of the fingers, enough lines remained to prove that the slain man was the much-sought criminal upon comparison of the fresh prints with those kept by Bertillon experts.

BlAMES FEDERAL RESERVE.
Bloomington, Ill., July 26.—(AP)—The attitude of the Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago was blamed for defeating attempts to reopen the Woodford County National Bank at El Paso, Ill. L. F. Shepard, son of the founder of the institution, said the Chicago bank opposed the reopening plan on the grounds that the town cannot support another bank. The bank, when closed in March, 1933, was 37½ percent liquid, and is now, Shepard said, about 92 percent liquid.

BOYS
By Helen Welshimer
BOY should climb a crooked tree,
Fall down and stub his toes,
Tread water in a dark green pool,
Go romping in old clothes,
Get in an alley fight or two,
Bring home a hungry pup,
Have a gang and know a yell,
And get a circus up.

I am not fond of little boys
Who get their spelling right,
And go to bed without complaint
At nine o'clock each night.
I like the harum scarum type
Who drive the neighbors wild—
It probably will be my luck
To have a model child.

OUR CHILD AND THE SCHOOL

By Dr. ALLEN G. IRELAND
Principal, Physical and Mental Education
New Jersey State Department of Public Instruction

Vegetable Time

Summer time is fresh vegetable time. It seems hardly necessary to emphasize how important that fact is. Most parents today know that vegetables of all kinds are essential to growth and health.

Vitamin has almost become a household word, especially to the mother who selects and prepares the meals. And in vegetables, we have one of the richest sources of vitamins, special vitamins and minerals which supply the body with protective materials.

Use all the green vegetables that will be eaten. Give the tomato a prominent place for it deserves great credit. Have the green foods crispy and clean. Wash them well.

Try many combinations that look attractive, which is one way to interest children. Chopped vegetables in gelatin, shaped by molds, makes an inviting dish. Many suggestions are usually given in the leading magazines for women. Try them, and it may be surprising to see how children will actually enjoy vegetables that were once in the "don't like" class.

Is your child to be away from home this summer? Read what Dr. Ireland has to say about it next week.

POLICE GUARD GRAVE OF DEAD PUBLIC ENEMY

Dillinger Buried Late Yesterday in Very Heavy Rainstorm

Indianapolis, July 26—(AP)—The police he dodged in life stood guard today at the grave of John Dillinger.

To prevent the morbidly curious from violating the resting place of the Indiana outlaw, a police sergeant and two patrolmen kept vigil over the mound of fresh soil.

Dillinger was buried in Crown Hill cemetery late yesterday beside the body of his mother, while police lines held at a distance a crowd of curiosity seekers. The burial, originally scheduled for today, was advanced in an effort to make the services as private as possible.

A severe rainstorm drenched the funeral party.

The band's father, John Dillinger, Mooreville, Ind., farmer who celebrates his 70th birthday tomorrow, stood long at the grave, then returned home.

He sat coatless in the hundred-degree heat as the Rev. Charles M. Fillmore, retired minister of the Disciples of Christ church, preached the funeral sermon at the Maywood home of John's sister, Mrs. Audrey Hancock.

Mrs. Hancock fainted as the casket was closed.

OGLE CO. CORN-HOG CONTRACTS ARE APPROVED

Neighboring Farmers May Soon Get Their Checks from U. S.

Springfield, Ill., July 26—(AP)—Federal money has started to flow into the pockets of Illinois farmers who joined the corn-hog reduction campaign.

The first batch of corn-hog checks, totalling $16,995, was received in Piatt county this week, commencing distribution of more than $35,000,000 of AAA funds allocated to Illinois.

Other payments are expected to follow at a steady pace. Contracts in 56 of the 102 counties have been finally approved by A. J. Surratt, the federal agricultural statistician here who as chairman of the state review board has toiled through the hot wave to establish acceptable quotas.

"The work of the county committees and the state board is running along at a better pace daily," Surratt said. "We have finished work on 56 counties. Others are being approved at the rate of two or three a day."

Three Checks Held Up

V. T. Walsh of Monticella, chairman of the Piatt county allotment committee, reported to Surratt that 84 of the 87 "early payment" contracts, brought $16,995 to 141 landlords and tenants. Three checks were held up because a power of attorney was not given.

Some 300 contracts for "regular payment" are now ready for the second signature of Piatt county farmers who are participating in the federal effort to increase prices by reducing production.

Surratt explained that after the board of review approves contracts for a county, they are sent back to the local committee to be typed in final form. This takes from a week to ten days, depending on the size of the county.

Completed contracts are then mailed to Washington, with the AAA issuing the checks in another two weeks.

Final approval of some of the larger counties has been held up because of the size factor, Surratt said. Adjustment takes longer when there is a large number of farmers to bring in under the quota established.

Counties Approved

The counties in which corn-hog contracts have been approved follow by districts:

Northwest—Ogle, Putnam, Winnebago.

Northeast—Boone, Cook, DuPage, Lake, La Salle, Will.

West—None.

West southwest—Bond, Calhoun, Cass, Christian, Greene, Jersey, Macoupin, Scott.

Central—De Witt, Marshall, Peoria, Tazewell.

East—Ford, Iroquois, Kankakee, Livingston, Piatt.

East Southwest—Clark, Clay, Crawford, Cumberland, Douglas, Edgar, Effingham, Fayette, Jasper, Lawrence, Marion, Moultrie, Richmond.

Southwest—Jackson, Johnson, Monroe, Perry, Washington, Williamson.

Southeast—Edwards, Franklin, Gallatin, Hardin, Jefferson, Ma-sac, Pope, Saline, Wabash, Wayne, White.

RENUNCIATION

By Helen Welshimer

MY feet will never stray again, dear God,
Nor ever, though the moon be over-bright
Across the counterpane, and I shall hear
Him I have loved low-calling in the night.

THIS is my place, and I shall never go
To seek the spring that I have known with him.
I have a row of tasks You've given me,
Kind, gentle tasks, not any of them grim.

NOW I shall take his kisses from my lips,
Nor seek his smile and reach to touch his hand.
I'll close my ears to three small singing words...
So sweet they were! Dear God, please understand!

AND I shall plot the day with tasks You give,
I'll walk Your path nor ever turn apart.
I promise You my feet will never stray—
But please, dear God, be patient with my heart!

EVACUATION OF HUNDREDS FROM DRY AREAS PLAN

AAA Is Also Considering Changes in Wheat Control Scheme

Washington, July 26—(AP)—A sweeping change in the AAA's wheat control tactics was under consideration today as the drought tightened its disastrous grip.

Instead of plowing under to cut the crop, officials studied a plan to return to virtually normal acreages next year—but with an ace in the hole. If restricted production were found necessary, part of the crop would be harvested while still green to be used for forage.

Uncertainties in the world wheat situation, as well as lessons learned from the drought, influence the plans.

This new control idea would enable the nation's farmers to harvest the crop on normal acreages if that much wheat is needed next season or if the world wheat export agreement collapses and the United States desires more grain for export.

Plan New Contract
Farmers could be held under contract to harvest unmaturing wheat for forage on government instructions.

It was explained that this plan would serve both as a partial guarantee against a wheat shortage in case of another bad drought, and would furnish food for livestock if ordinary forage ran short.

The disclosure came soon after Dr. Elwood Mead, reclamation commissioner, declared that tens of thousands of people must be evacuated from the western half of the Dakotas, eastern Montana and Wyoming.

Aghast at the disaster, which left "no green thing" growing, he said the region must be returned to range land. The evacuation of the farmers would be one of the greatest mass movements of its kind in history.

UNTIE HANDS OF POLICE AND CROOKS WILL FALL.

The law finally caught up with John Dillinger; and the way in which it all happened is a sample of the kind of police work that can eventually reduce American crime to something like civilized proportions.

It caught up with him, you see, because there existed one police organization—the force maintained by the Department of Justice—which is empowered to act anywhere in the country, which is not under the influence of local politicians and which never gets off the trail.

The form of local self-government under which we live is an essential part of our democracy, and there doesn't seem to be any very good reason for changing it materially. But it does play right into the hands of the crook.

An outlaw is not confined, any longer, to his own city or county; indeed, he is not even confined to his own state. He can hold up an Indiana bank one day and swoop down on a filling station in Texas a week later; if his hideout in Wisconsin gets too hot for him he can run to another one in Pennsylvania.

This puts the local police at such a tremendous disadvantage, that in many cases they are quite literally helpless.

Yet that isn't their only handicap. The local sheriff has to be a politician, chosen usually for his vote-getting ability and not for his skill as an officer of the law. The local police chief is a political appointee, and in nine cases out of ten he can't call his soul his own. If the gangster has any political "drag" in his home town—and, if he is a big shot, he usually has—the cop goes into action with one hand tied.

Add these things together, and you find little reason to wonder why the Dillingers, the Pretty Boy Floyds, the Baby-Face Nelsons and all the rest can cut such a wide swath.

But the Department of Justice is something else again. It is beyond the reach of local politics. It pays no attention to state or city boundary lines. And it is so organized that when it gets on a trail it can stay on it, for months or years if need be, until it gets its quarry.

That is the sort of police work that is vitally needed. A few more achievements like those which the department has recorded in the past year, and this relentless, methodical and certain method of going after crooks will begin to instill in the hearts of underworldlings the kind of fear which is the best of all crime preventives.

HUMANITY TAKES HOLD OF JUVENILE JUSTICE.

There is a certain large American city which possesses an enlightened and active juvenile court. Not long ago one of the city's newspapers set out to compare the way youthful offenders are handled by this court with the way similar offenders were handled before the court was established.

What was learned is worth repeating here as an object lesson.

Consider the case of Jimmie, for instance; Jimmie, the 11-year-old who kept running away from home and who said he was going to go on doing it.

The juvenile court authorities had a talk with Jimmie. They found out that he ran away from home, very simply, because he was unhappy there. He felt that he wasn't getting the breaks; his older brothers lay abed late and had nothing to do after they did get up, but Jimmie was routed out at 6 every morning and kept at a routine of household drudgery all day long. He had no time to play and he got precious little love or attention.

So the court's first step was to give Jimmie a room in the juvenile detention home—a clean, up-to-date building surrounded by playgrounds, and equipped with books, toys, and so on, not in the least like a jail.

While Jimmie stayed there, enjoying life for a change, court officers went to his home and began the job of straightening out things with his parents so that, when he came back, he could have something like a normal boyhood and something like a fair break in the division of family duties.

The reporter who learned all of this, having seen how a lad like Jimmie fares when an enlightened and conscientious juvenile court looks after him, then tried to find out what used to happen to such boys a decade or more ago, before the court was functioning.

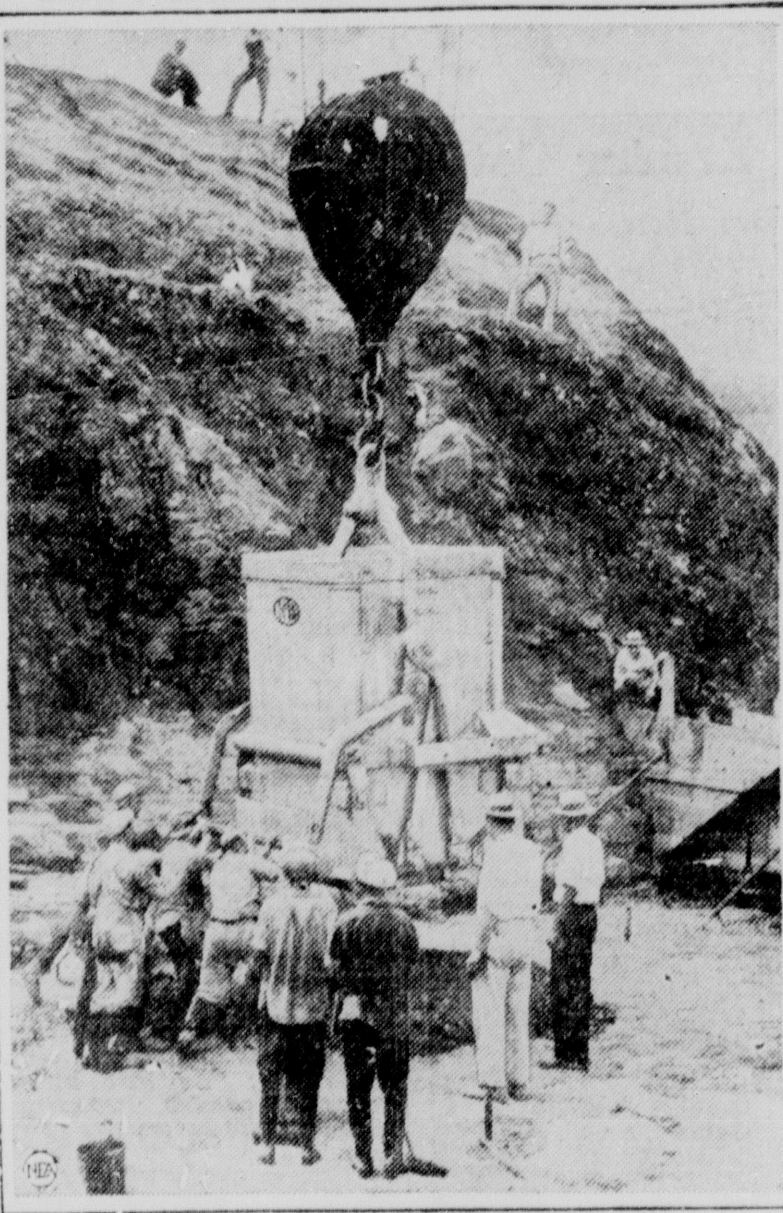

The contrast is enlightening.

Ten years ago the cop who picked Jimmie up would have lugged him off to jail, forthwith. The only questioning he got would have been from policemen; he would have spent some time in an unclean cell, in close proximity to drunks, aged vagabonds, pickpockets and all the other bits of human draftwood that land in the police lockup.

Eventually he would have gone back home—carrying a stigma. His parents would have paddled him, the neighborhood children would have teased him, nothing would have been done to alleviate his unpleasant home conditions—and in all probability, by this time he would have developed into a full-fledged outlaw, an enemy of society made bitter by society's injustice.

An ounce of prevention, they say, is worth a pound of cure. A juvenile court which keeps unfortunately-placed youngsters from growing up into crooks is worth, to the city which supports it, infinitely more than it can possibly cost.

First Concrete at Norris Dam

Months of preparation were climaxed when the first concrete was poured at Norris dam on the Clinch River outside Knoxville, Tenn., as shown here. The huge bucket holds six cubic yards of concrete, and the pouring marked the start of the last stage in construction of the $34,000,000 project that is the popular keypoint of the Tennessee Valley regional plan.

WEEKLY SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

MICAHIAH SPEAKS THE TRUTH.

Text: I Kings 22:1-14.

The International Uniform Sunday School Lesson for July 29.

By WM. E. GILROY, D. D.
Editor of Advance.

Kings and commoners, when they want to do some particular thing and have more or less made up their minds to do it, frequently seek advice. The counselor who advises them against it, no matter how wise or just his advice may be, is likely to get himself disliked for his pains, no matter how much the king or the commoner may have urged him to be frank.

Much of the time, when we seek advice, we want to have our own judgment confirmed rather than upset, and we tend to value our counselors according to whether they give us pleasant and favorable, or discouraging words.

Here, in our lesson, King Ahab of Israel set himself upon a certain course. He wanted to regain Ramoth in Gilead, then in possession of the king of Syria.

He turned to Jehoshaphat, king of Judah, for help. Jehoshaphat was willing to give him assistance and to ally his people, his horses, and forces with those of Ahab, but he suggested that first of all it might be wise to inquire of the Lord.

I suppose that pagan peoples would have said "consult an oracle." That was practically what it amounted to, for Ahab called in some hundreds of prophets who were ministers of pleasant words, rather than clear-sighted and honest advisers.

They sensed what Ahab wanted them to say, and they said it, telling him to go on up and fight for Ramoth, because the Lord would deliver it into his hands. Jehoshaphat apparently sensed something rather unsound about it. He did not seem to have very great confidence in this group of prophets, and he wanted to know whether there was not still another whose judgment they might seek.

Ahab told him that there was such a man, Micajah by name, but that he hated him and did not want to get his word, because Micajah did not prophesy good things concerning him, but evil.

Jehoshaphat, king of Judah, was urgent about the matter, however, and Ahab sent to have Micajah brought. Micajah seems first of all to have mocked the false prophets and to have spoken to Ahab in much the same words.

Ahab apparently sensed the fact that Micajah was mocking him, and then Micajah dared immediately to speak out the truth, telling him that his armies would be scattered and that his own life would be lost.

Instead of listening to him, Ahab only turned to Jehoshaphat and said, "Did I not tell thee that he would prophesy no good concerning me, but evil?"

The two kings went up to battle, and it turned out as Micajah had predicted. They suffered a most inglorious defeat. Jehoshaphat was killed in the battle, and Ahab who had discarded his kingly robes, was killed by an arrow shot at a venture as he tried to escape.

Did Micajah have divine insight into what was to happen? Possibly, but not necessarily. It does not always require more than the judgment of an honest and clear-seeing man to predict disaster when he sees the sort of men who are in control.

This story of truth-telling and tragedy has, manifestly, its lessons for our own time.

WHY the Back Seat Driver is Silent in Illinois

QUIET, restful motion over Illinois main roads cures that tired feeling and lets everybody enjoy riding—because the main roads are CONCRETE ROADS.

But where the pavement is too narrow for the traffic; or when you swing off the concrete on a rough road or street—then see how quickly the "back seat jitters" pop up again!

Your public officials are on the job to modernize the county roads, and the arterial streets in your city. Insist upon having the benefit of concrete paving for these improvements also! Anything less smooth and safe will never satisfy you—and may increase your driving costs!

INJURIES HAVE TAKEN TOLL IN MAJOR LEAGUES

American Teams Have Been Hit Especially Seriously

By HUGH S. FULLERTON, Jr.
Associated Press Sports Writer

Unless there is a sudden change in the luck of the American League clubs, the 1934 campaign may become known as the "hospital season" of big league baseball.

Starting with the pre-season mishap in which Rabbit Maranville broke his leg, there has been a steady trail of injuries through both major circuits. Much of Washington's decline can be attributed to various injuries; there are difficulties such as those which have kept Lefty Grove from pitching his usual brand of ball for the Red Sox and now comes Earle Combs' crash into a St. Louis fence which has cost the Yankees the services of their fleet outfielder and left them in a precarious position as regards the pennant race.

Yanks Undismayed
The Yanks refused to be dismayed by the loss of Combs and promptly stepped out yesterday to defeat the Browns 5 to 4 and reduce Detroit's lead to one game when the Red Sox bludgeoned out a 9 to 7 decision over the Tigers. But the game only served to emphasize the plight of the New York club, which is already seeking another player to replace Combs.

Babe Ruth, still bothered by the leg injury he suffered in Cleveland and at the best only a part-time player, had to step into action. Then Ben Chapman was forced out by a recurrence of the charley horse which has troubled him. Dixie Walker, one of the few outfielders, is troubled by a weak arm. It was Sammy Byrd, leader of the Yanks' replacements, who finally settled the argument. He plastered Ed Wells, a former Yank, for a home run with two aboard in the sixth to provide the winning runs.

Tigers Rout Ferrell
Detroit landed on Wes Ferrell with both feet in the second inning to score six runs and tie the count after Boston had pummeled Eldon Auker around in the first two frames. The Tigers went ahead in the fifth but failed to survive the Red Sox' closing drive when Roy Johnson doubled off Schoolboy Rowe in the ninth to send home the winning run and Charley Gehring's error let another tally count.

Down in third place Cleveland's Indians assaulted four Philadelphia throwers to overcome an early lead and defeat the Athletics 8 to 3 for their eighth victory in their last ten games. The last-place Chicago White Sox added to Washington's woes when George Earnshaw blanked the Senators 4 to 0 with a seven hit performance that brought the Hoses their first regulation shut out of the season.

A rainy day along the eastern seaboard wiped out most of the National League program but gave the Boston Braves a chance to consolidate their hold on fourth place, going a game ahead of Pittsburgh with a double victory over Cincinnati. Pinky Whitney's homer gave them a 2-1 victory in the opener although they got only five hits off St. Johnson, then Marty McManus hit for the circuit with the bases loaded to help win the second clash 7 to 3. Chick Hafey cracked a futile homer for the Reds in each game.

GOLF

By Art Krenz

AT THIS POINT, THE LEFT HAND HESITATES WHILE THE RIGHT WHIPS THE CLUBHEAD THROUGH

The majority of golfers have abandoned the idea that the golf stroke is entirely left-handed. The left hand is used to guide the club in its start to the top of the backswing, and in the downswing until the right is called to do its part.

One might say that the left hand, just before impact, almost comes to a stop, so that the right wrist can put the snap into the shot.

STEP BY STEP AS DILLINGER WENT TO HIS DEATH

The thrill-filled last moments of John Dillinger's hectic career are sketched here, on an actual picture of the scene, as the outlaw went to his death by federal bullets. (1) Dillinger leaves film theater, followed by two women. With a piercing look, he passes Melvin Purvis (2), Department of Justice investigator, waiting in front of an adjacent beer tavern to spring the trap; then (3) the women believed to have led the outlaw to his doom fall back, and flee (4) as the cordon closes in on the quarry. (5) Bullets thud into the body of the gangster and he plunges dying into the alley.

"KID" GOLFERS PROVING TOUGH IN PGA TOURNEY

And Gene Sarazen Is Standing Alone to Repulse Them

Buffalo, N. Y., July 26.—(AP)—Gene Sarazen was left almost alone today to meet the defiant challenge of fame-seeking youngsters in the battle for the Professional Golfers' Association championship now held by the stocky campaigner.

Gone were two of his great fellow veterans—Walter Hagen and Leo Diegel. They fell by the way-side in the first match play round yesterday.

Some oldsters were left, among them "Light Horse" Harry Cooper, and the Black Scot, Tommy Armour.

Hagen bowed to one of the youngsters, Denny Shute of Philadelphia, former British open champion, and Diegel yielded to Fay Coleman of Culver City, Cal., while even Sarazen had to put on the pressure to turn back a New York youngster, Herman Barron.

Says Kids Are Tough.
"These kids are tough, real tough," said Gene after his 3 and 2 victory over the 26-year-old, unemployed pro. "Hagen's gone and so is Diegel and that leaves it up to me." Among them this trio had held the P. G. A. title ten of the past 14 years.

By "these kids" Sarazen meant not only Shute and Coleman but Ky Laffoon, the part Cherokee Indian from Denver who all but scalped Horton Smith yesterday in winning by a record score of 12 and 10; Paul Runyan of White Plains, N. Y.; Dick Metz of Chicago; Johnny Revolta of Milwaukee; and Crais Wood of Deal, N. J.

Wood hardly comes under that classification for he's a little older than the others, but he's a "kid" to Sarazen.

Sixteen Survivors.
As the 16 survivors swung into action today in another set of 36-hole matches, Sarazen found himself sharing the betting odds with young Runyan, who scored a decisive 8 and 6 triumph over John-

TWO UPSETS AT SEABRIGHT HOLD FANS' INTEREST

Henry Prusoff, Gracyn Wheeler Centers of Attention Today

Seabright, N. J., July 26.—(AP)—While they weren't expected to take any trophies away from such seasoned campaigners as Wilmer Allison, Berkeley Bell and Helen Jacobs, two comparatively unknown players, Henry Prusoff of Seattle and Gracyn Wheeler of Los Angeles today held the centers of interest in the 47th annual tennis tournaments for the Seabright bowls.

Prusoff, conqueror of the national indoor champion, Gregory Mangin of Newark, yesterday, faced Bryan M. (Bity) Grant, the Atlanta "giant killer" in one of the semi-final matches in the men's division. Miss Wheeler, the 20-year-old player who has eliminated Mrs. Henry C. Brunie, Helen Fulton and Baroness Maud Lev in successive matches, encountered Carolin Babcock of Los Angeles, also in the semi-finals.

Two Major Upsets.
These scored a pair of major upsets yesterday. Prusoff turned the tables on Mangin with a brilliant display of court strategy, 4-6, 6-1, 6-2. Miss Wheeler defeated Baroness Levi, seventh ranking player nationally, 6-3, 9-7.

Although Allison had some trouble with Wilmer Hines, the Carolinian who had conquered young Frankie Parker, the other favorites came through to the semi-finals in good style. Bell won the right to face Allison today with a three-set victory over John Ryn, while Grant eliminated John McDermid of Port Worth, Tex.

Miss Jacobs continued her clean-up of the women's division by losing only two games to Dorothy Andrus of Stamford, Conn., and today was listed to face Mrs. Mary Greef Harris of Kansas City, who scored a mid-set by eliminating Mae Ceurovst of Kansas City. Miss Babcock advanced through the default of Mrs. Penelope Anderson McBride of Short Hill, N. J.

Winner of Epsom Derby is Sold for About 250 "Grand"

London, July 26.—(AP)—The Maharajah of Raippla has sold Windsor Lad, winner of the 1934 Epsom Derby, for a record price of 50,000 pounds sterling (about $250,000). The new owner is M. H. Benson of Newmarket.

A condition of the sale is that Windsor Lad must not be taken out of England. The colt also must remain under the care of the Maharajah's trainer.

Unidentified Man Won $3,300.50 for $2 on Double "X"

Montreal, July 26.—(AP)—An unknown follower of the races at King's Park was richer by more than $3,000 today because Visa and Jack D'or ran one-two in the seventh race. The man, who refused to give his name, bought the only "double X" ticket sold on this combination and cashed it in for a return of $3,300.50 on his $2 investment. The price broke all records here for a double X ticket.

WASH OUT 15 MILES OF KIDNEY TUBES

Win Back Pep . . . Vigor . . . Vitality
Medical authorities agree that your kidneys contain 15 MILES of tiny tubes of filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy.

If you have trouble with too frequent bladder passages with scanty amount causing burning and discomfort, the 15 MILES of kidney tubes need washing out. This danger signal may be the beginning of passing backache, leg pains, loss of pep and vitality, getting up nights, lumbago, swollen feet and ankles, rheumatic pains and distress. If kidneys don't empty 3 times every day and get rid of 4 pounds of waste matter, your body will take up these poisons causing serious trouble. It may knock you out and lay you up for many months. Don't wait. Ask your druggist for DOAN'S PILLS. . . a doctor's prescription. . . which has been used successfully by millions of kidney sufferers for over 40 years. They give quick relief and will help to wash out the 15 MILES of kidney tubes.

But don't take chances with strong drugs or so-called "kidney cures" that claim to fix you up in 15 minutes, for they may seriously injure and irritate delicate tissues. Insist on DOAN'S PILLS. . . the old reliable relief that contain no "dope" or habit-forming drugs. He sure you get DOAN'S PILLS at your druggist. © 1934, Foster-Milburn Co.

INDEPENDENCE OF AUSTRIA WAS DOLLFUSS' AIM

Slain "Little Chancellor" Opposed Union With Germany

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS (Picture on Page 1)

Engelbert Dollfuss became Austria's "Little Chancellor"—he was only four feet eleven inches tall—May 21, 1933.

Unstable parliamentary governments had preceded him and his position was insecure from the start. Nazis and Socialists opposed him and both parties were strong.

But Dollfuss showed himself a fighter. He was determined to preserve Austria's independence. Eventually he became a dictator.

Civil war, terrorism, hangings followed.

The Little Chancellor still held command, supported by Fascists and National Socialists.

Was Devout Man

A devout man, he proposed a sort of divine rule. The power to rule, he said, should come from God instead of from the people. Parliament granted his wishes, gave him more power and voted itself out of existence.

Then came more violence against the government. There were bombings and an attempt on Dollfuss' life. Nazis were blamed.

Early this week the government arrested some 1,500 Socialists, Nazis and Communists. One young Socialist was hanged Tuesday for a bombing and the shooting of a policeman.

Dollfuss immediately began plans for sterner measures to prevent demonstrations.

But Nazis, who wanted Austria joined with Germany in a political union, stopped these plans.

They Killed Dollfuss

Of Catholic Faith

With a wide sentiment in his country for "anschluss," or union with Germany, Dollfuss dedicated himself to the task of maintaining the independence of his country. A foe of both Germanic nationalism and its antithesis, Marxian socialism, he preached a species of Christian nationalism, guiding himself by the precepts of the Roman Catholic church, of which he was a member, and forecasting the day when a common political creed would unite a people already 90 per cent dedicated to a common religious belief.

But Austria, divided into two camps with the socialists dominant in Vienna and the fascists in the country at large, seethed and boiled. On March 7, 1933, Dollfuss shelved parliament with the remark that it had "paralyzed itself."

The socialists threatened a general strike and Dollfuss disbanded the party's private army, the "schutz-bund" of 140,000, confiscating their arms and munitions.

He raided and closed all nazi headquarters, arrested 1,000 leaders and forbade political unions.

He made the "heimwehr" fascist's uniformed rank, auxiliary police. Municipal elections showed nazi gains and he shut down on further voting.

On September 21, 1933, there was a cabinet shake-up with "heimwehr" leaders admitted to the government and with the diminutive chancellor himself assuming four portfolios. Promptly he was dubbed "dictator" by his foes, bombings broke out, and on October 3 the disorders culminated in an attempt to assassinate the chancellor.

Rudolf Bertil, a one-time army bugler, fired several shots at Dollfuss at the entrance of the parliament building. One bullet hit him in the shoulder, but within a fortnight he was back at his desk.

Reared on Farm

Dollfuss was born October 4, 1892 in Teining, Lower Austria, and spent his boyhood on a farm. He studied law in Vienna and economics in Berlin until the World War. He served at the front 37 months, emerging as an officer.

Afterwards he became active in agricultural organizations, was secretary of the Lower Austrian Peasants' League and helped organize the Lower Austrian chamber of agriculture. In 1930 he went on to the executive board of the federal railways and before the year was out was named president of the lines. In March, 1931, he became minister of agriculture and in May, 1932, President Miklas asked him to form a cabinet.

Dollfuss' size was a prolific subject of jests which usually he took in good part. Once when introduced at a luncheon as "Europe's youngest chancellor," he chimed in with "and the smallest." One of

Citizens Wreak Vengeance on Communists

Sporadic raids on Communist clubs and headquarters featured the second day of San Francisco's general strike throughout the whole bay district. Here are citizens breaking up furniture that had been thrown out of a Communist club.

the favorite jokes about him ran:

"Austria is going to put out a new postage stamp bearing a life-size portrait of Dollfuss."

Enemies called him "the midgelet Metternich," friends fondly referred to him as "our little Napoleon." In the midst of his campaign to revive the old Austrian tradition in opposition to union with Germany the Burgher in Vienna produced a play eulogizing Prince Eugene, one of the great military heroes of Austria's past who also was a small man. The allusion was not lost upon the audiences.

Scores in Diplomatic Field

But diminutive though he was in physical stature, Dollfuss measured up with others in statecraft. At the world economic conference in London in June, 1933, one observer said "he skipped to the platform like a school boy, then proceeded to plead his country's cause with complete success." At League of Nations sessions in Geneva he also scored by clear and convincing presentations of Austrian viewpoints.

One of his great triumphs in this field was scored at Rome, using his favorite method of travel, the airplane, he flew to Italy's capital at a time when the rise of Adolf Hitler to power in Berlin had turned attention to the several points of similarity between German and Italian fascism and revived talk of a "fascist belt" across Europe that would include Austria and evolve ultimately in "anschluss."

Dollfuss, Austria's "Little Napoleon," talked with Benito Mussolini, Italy's stoutly-built "modern Caesar," to such good effect that he went back to Vienna in the wake of public announcement that Italy would drop any change in the independent status of the republic. Thereafter "anschluss" in the political sense was soft-pedaled so far as official Berlin was concerned.

Wife Worries About Smoking

Personally Dollfuss was as mild as his acts were drastic. He lived unpretentiously, finding surcease from official cares in the middle-class atmosphere of a well-ordered home. His wife, a quiet, housewife-like woman, kept in the background, devoting her energies to their two children, Rudolf and Eva, and to the difficult task of saving her husband from unnecessary strain.

"He eats too little and smokes too much," she used to say. His favorite dish was a cream potato soup, such as he ate on the farm as a boy. He drank chiefly water, but smoked innumerable cigarettes.

GET BABY FACE NELSON' ORDERS TO U. S. AGENTS

Dillinger's Machine Gunner Now the Most Sought Bandit

Chicago, July 26—(AP)—Get George (Baby Face) Nelson, the new No. 1 public enemy!

This was the order federal operatives were under today and they concentrated all their powers in this new hunt now that John Dillinger's body lies buried in the Crown Hill cemetery at Indianapolis, mute evidence that the government "always gets its man."

Nelson, also known as Lester M. Gillis, is a product of Chicago's west side, where at a tender age he became notorious as a "tough guy." Although he was one of the last recruits to the Dillinger gang he soon became known as the chief gunner of the crew.

Nelson is accused by the government of being the man who shot down Federal Agent W. Carter Baum when Dillinger mobsters blasted their way to freedom from the vicinity of the Little Bohemia, Wis., resort last April.

Predict Capture

But Nelson, called the "Baby Face" because of his innocent appearance, will be captured dead or alive before many months have passed, federal officials predict.

"His days are numbered, said J. Edgar Hoover, chief of the investigating head of the Department of Justice at Washington. "There will never be any let up until Nelson, John Hamilton and Homer Van Meter, other members of the gang, are captured."

Nelson is "kill crazy," Hoover said, adding that he will shoot without provocation, whereas his late chief held his gunfire until he was cornered. Nelson is five feet four and a half inches tall, weighs about 133 pounds. He was last reported in Ohio and Michigan. He was arrested in Chicago in 1931 for robbery, but later escaped from the state prison at Joliet after having served seven months of a term of one year to life.

FRIENDSHIP OF YEARS ENDS AT PRISON'S GATE

Andrew Russell and M. F. Dunlap Quarrel as Prison Nears

Springfield, Ill., July 25—(AP)—Federal officials today indicated that Andrew Russell and M. F. Dunlap, aged Jacksonville bankers, would be taken to Chillicothe, O., to serve their prison terms in connection with the crash of the Avers National bank at Jacksonville.

The Chillicothe institution, formerly a reformatory, has been transformed into a penitentiary. Russell former state treasurer and auditor, has asked permission to start his prison term next week, although both men received a stay of execution until August 7. It has not been obtained.

It was believed that Russell and Dunlap, who was president of the bank, had quarreled so bitterly during recent years that, in spite of a life-long friendship, neither wanted to make the trip to prison with the other.

U. S. OFFICIALS WATCH AUSTRIA TIGHT-LIPPED

No One Doubts the Death of Dollfuss Brings Dangerous Crisis

Washington, July 26—(AP)—Officialdom, tense and tight-lipped, watched the Austrian cauldron boiling today and tried to guess what it means for the future of European peace.

That the killing of Engelbert Dollfuss, "vest pocket" Chancellor was fraught with danger of serious international repercussions no one doubted.

Secretary Hull and all other officials of the state department preserved silence. Official dispatches were delayed for hours because of interruption of the communications service from Austria and the confusion in Vienna.

Get Lone Dispatch

George S. Messersmith, American minister to Austria, finally put through a lone dispatch last night saying all Americans in that troubled city were safe. Hull awaited fuller dispatches describing the situation in detail.

The Austrian minister to the United States, Edgar Prochnik, hurried back here today from a vacation at Rehoboth Beach, Delaware.

He described the assassination as a "great blow to Austria" because, he said, Dollfuss was "very able, very patriotic and very brave."

George H. Earle, who resigned as minister to Austria to become candidate for governor of Pennsylvania, was outspoken in condemning the killing of Dollfuss as "cold-blooded murder."

ITALIAN ARMY GATHERED NEAR AUSTRIAN LINE

Mussolini Will Act to Maintain Austria Independent

BULLETIN.

Rome, July 26—(AP)—An official communique announced today that Italian troops had been ordered to the Austrian frontier, but added that this precaution was considered sufficient in view of the improved situation in Austria.

Rome, July 26—(AP)—Premier Mussolini arrived in Rome today after a fast dash from Riccione, and the immediate indications were that Italy will undertake no military actions because of the Austrian upheaval. However, Mussolini assured Vice Chancellor Starhemberg of Austria by telegram today that Italy will defend Austrian independence even "more strenuously in these exceptional and difficult times."

Mussolini's message was sent as war time sentiments came to the fore in Italy, long opposed to a union of Germany and Austria. Troops in the north were ordered ready to march on short notice.

"The tragic end of Chancellor Dollfuss saddened me profoundly," Mussolini telegraphed Starhemberg, who is leader of the Fascist home guard.

Bound to Dollfuss

"I was bound to him by ties of personal friendship and by international political points of view. I have always admired his capacities as a statesman, his simple probity, his great courage."

"The independence of Austria for which he fell is a principle which has been defended and will be defended by Italy yet more strenuously in these exceptional and difficult times."

"Chancellor Dollfuss served the people from whom he came with absolute disinterestedness and disdain for peril. His memory will be honored not only by Austria but everywhere in the civilized world, which has already with its moral condemnation struck at those persons directly and indirectly responsible for this deed."

"I receive an expression of my condolences, which interpret the unanimous sentiment of exaltation and mourning of the Italian people."

(Signed) Mussolini.

Austria Asks Help

By publication of an official announcement that Dollfuss' successors in Vienna had asked the help of European powers, requesting intervention.

Whether armed assistance is needed will be determined at a conference of diplomatic representatives in Vienna.

It was considered certain here that Italy would participate in any movement of troops into the neighboring country and that France, England and the Little Entente would either send troops to aid in intervention or lend close economic, moral and political support.

(Reports from Praha, Czechoslovakia, however, quoted authoritative sources as saying the Little Entente would consider intervention necessary only in case of Austro-German union.)

All reports were indicated that the powers were in strong accord that extraordinary measures must be taken rather than allow the Nazis to seize control of Austria, if that seemed imminent.

The feeling in Rome was that the danger of an Anschluss, or Austro-German union, which is deemed certain to bring on a preventive war or at least occupation, hangs heavy over Europe today.

75,000 Soldiers Near.

Although no troop movements have yet been ordered, Mussolini has 75,000 men camped within easy marching distance of the Austrian frontier and on his instructions they are in readiness to move on a full war footing.

Among groups of Italian former service men a wave of war-time sentiment found ready expression as news of Dollfuss' assassination permeated the kingdom.

Expressing of deep resentment against Germany for alleged interference in Austria were freely passed in clubs and on street corners.

Newspaper Comment.

At the same time the newspapers stigmatized in severest terms what they openly called German interference in the realm of her former war-time ally, particularly the action of the German ambassador to Austria in seeking the release of the Nazi who assassinated Dollfuss.

Italian newspapers in their editorial columns sought to isolate the Vienna incident to prove that Austria as a whole was extraneous to the movement. Papers said that well informed persons regarded the political situation as not materially changed by the attempted coup, since the heirs of the former chancellor would carry on with his policies.

AUSTRIA LONG HAS BEEN KEG OF DYNAMITE

Bickering and Civil War
Have Kept Country
in Deep Turmoil

By The Associated Press.
The political situation in Austria has for months past been one of potential danger. Early in the year, actual civil war broke out between the government and the Socialists who, at that time, controlled the municipal administration of Vienna, the capital.
Chancellor Engelbert Dollfuss, the little head of the national government, had remained firmly in control throughout the period of bickering and warfare. His Fascist Heimwehr (home guard) put down the rebellious Socialists and he further conducted a widespread campaign against Nazi organizations, declaring them allied to Germany rather than to their homeland.

Continued Turmoil.
Acts of terrorism—mainly bombings—have kept the once-peaceful nation in a continual torment. Dollfuss decreed that bombers should be hanged, and, on Tuesday one bomber was hanged. He was a Socialist, however, not a Nazi.
One of the main announced aims of the Nazis in Austria has been to create an "anschluss" (joining) with Germany, uniting the Germanic peoples. But Dollfuss has held steadfastly to his ideal of a "patriotic front," an ideal of Austria for the Austrians.

Two months ago, when Chancellor Adolph Hitler of Germany went to Italy to confer with Premier Benito Mussolini, it was said that the two had agreed to the independence of Austria. Political observers in Europe immediately advanced the opinion that the difficulties between the Austrian government and the Nazis would end, but instead the bombings, if anything, were redoubled.

Played No Favorites.
Dollfuss' various "ruthless" drives against the Nazis never were ruthless enough to suit his more impatient advisers, but no one ever accused the little dictator of playing favorites in passing out his punishment to Hitlerites.

Students, of course, bore the brunt of the Dollfuss government's suppressive measures after the outlawing of the party in June, 1933, but that was because Nazi students were generally the most aggressive in their anti-government actions. Dollfuss did not hesitate, however, to strike a Nazis whatever their age or position.

Protestant clergymen seldom figured in the list of victims, but when they ventured anti-government sermons they were quickly disciplined, usually with fines. More than 100 burgomasters, vice burgomasters and former burgomasters; hundreds of deputies of provincial diets and members of city councils, and thousands of physicians, lawyers, teachers, army officers and editors were heavily fined or jailed.

Punished Officials.
Dollfuss even arrested an official of the ministry of defense and two officials of the ministry of the interior. He also sent to a concentration camp one of the most important leaders of the Fascist Heimwehr—Count Albrecht Alberti—who had been caught negotiating with the Nazis.

But he did not, even monitor after his proclamation of martial law with death penalties, go to the extreme of hanging Nazi terrorists. According to the martial law placards posted everywhere in November, not only homicidal violence but violence to property was to be punished with death. Hundreds of bombings which caused considerable property damage failed, however, to produce one death sentence against a Nazi.

See Show Aug. 7

The world's mightiest amusement entourage the Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey Combined Circus with its gigantic 1934 program of new world-wide wonders, many of which have never before appeared in America, is definitely scheduled to exhibit in Freeport, Tuesday, August 7.

The gorgeous, vastly enlarged inaugural spectacle, "The Durbur of Delhi" stupendously introduces the multitude of arenic marvels that succeed this pompous panoramic display.

The great new international congress of features presented in the seven rings and stages, huge hippodrome track and the maze of aerial rigging includes the recently imported Otari Troupe in the most astounding mid-air feat ever witnessed. These intrepid performers fly from all points of the compass at the same time in perilous forward and reverse flights through space from their lofty aerial cross.

The Otari with such arenic notables as Mlle. Gillette, Europe's sensation of the air, now appearing in this country for the first time and the celebrated Torrence-Dolores, Merckels, Willos and Spurgat Troupes, all new to this continent, are among the 80 men and women circus stars presented by the big show this year.

The circus bears on its four long trains of 100 double-length steel railroad cars more than 1600 people, 50 elephants, 1000 menagerie animals and 700 horses.

The great Con Colleano, tumbling, forward-somersaulting tight wire star has been recalled from European triumphs to join the great Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey Constellation of stars.

The celebrated Wallenda Troupe of high wire thrillers, the famous Loyal-Repenski family, world's greatest bareback riders, Dorothy Herbert, most daring horsewoman in history, the marvelous Yacopi, Danvills, Uyenos and Yon Kam acrobatic troupes and the famous Concellos, Harolds, Rooneys and Walters, aerial wizards, are but a few of the headliners among the better known acts.

There are 150 internationally famous clowns in the gala 1934 performances of the world's largest circus—the greatest congress of funmakers ever assembled.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Swope of Chicago are spending their vacation with the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Elijah Swope.

Miss Eliza Rasmussen spent the latter part of the week visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Johnson of Paw Paw.

Mr. and Mrs. Juste Montavon accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Forest Rosecrans and son to Chicago Sunday where they will visit with Mr. and Mrs. Barrett Rogers and Mr. and Mrs. Wyman Montavon and infant son. Mrs. Montavon will remain for a week's visit.

The M. E. Ladies Aid held their July meeting in the church parlors Wednesday afternoon. Hostesses were Mrs. M. F. Cook, Mrs. Roy Cook and Mrs. L. G. Archer.

Mr. and Mrs. Irving Mannon of Rockford spent the week end with Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Corwin.

Miss Vera Mae Pool of Dixon spent the week end here.

Fire broke out at the modern residence of Mr. and Mrs. George Swope late Sunday afternoon, apparently caused by defective light wiring as flames broke out in the attic spreading along the roof.

Considerable headway was gained by the fire until it was sighted by the neighbors. Help was called and with a stream of water on the roof it was brought under control.

Furniture and furnishings were removed from the house to save them from damage by water. Loss was adequately covered by insurance.

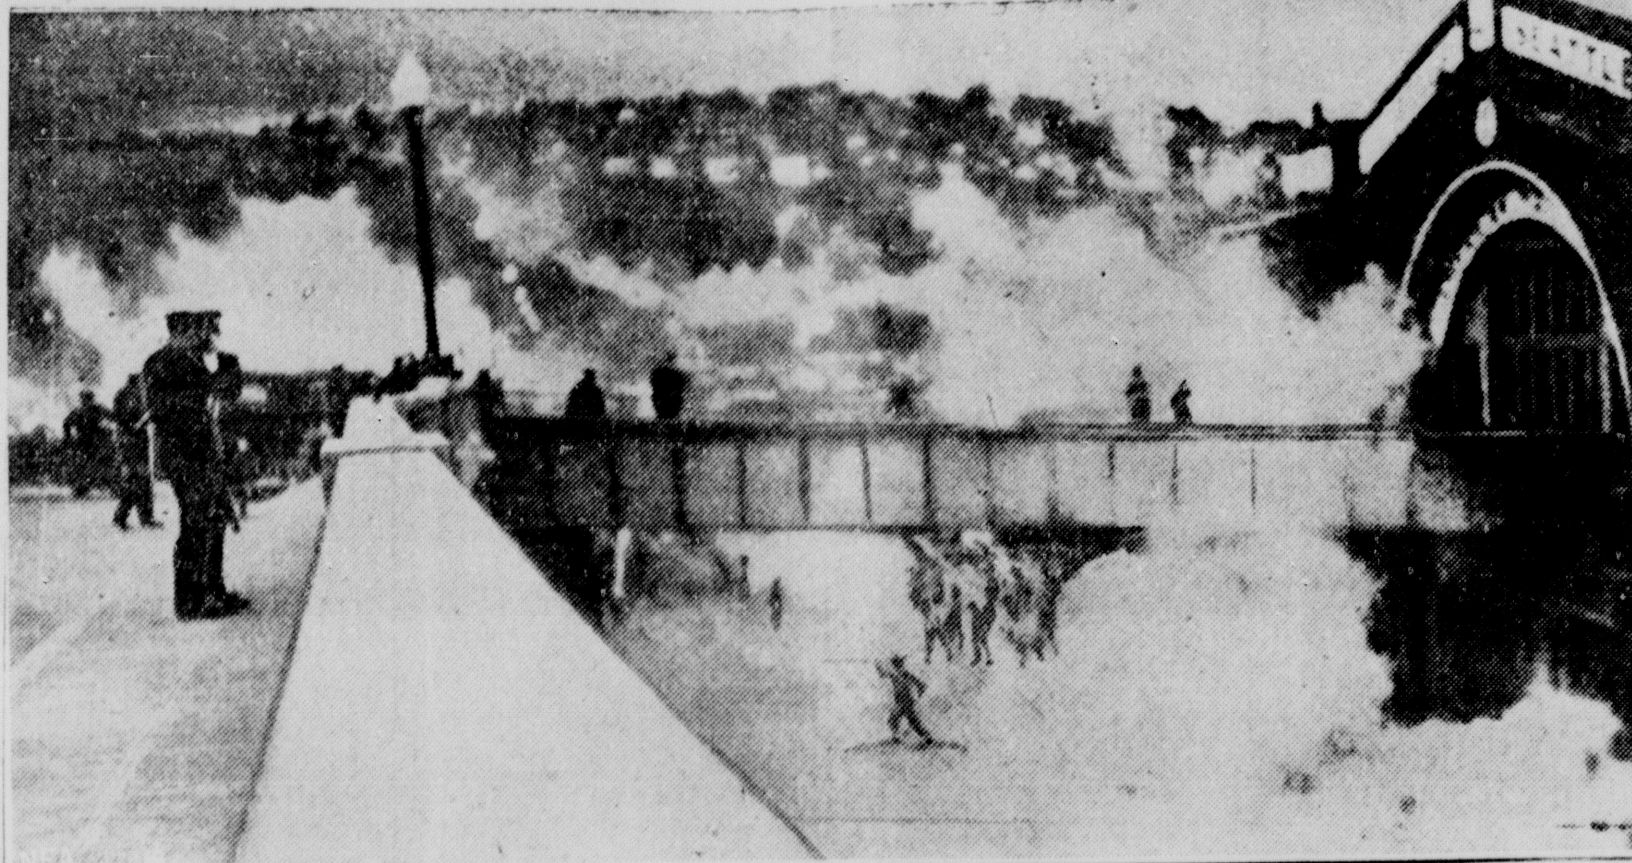

Simon Cole suffered a sunstroke late Saturday afternoon while working in the harvest field at the W. A. Richardson home. He was immediately rushed to the hospital. For several hours he remained in a critical condition, after which he slowly regained consciousness. He expects to leave the hospital late this week.

Mrs. Edward Holdren returned Tuesday from Grand Rapids, Michigan where she had been visiting for the past ten days.

Mr. and Mrs. Amil Bernadin and son Robert spent the latter part of the week in Belleville where they attended the convention of the rural mail carriers association. Mr. Bernadin being president of the Lee County organization of carriers.

Seattle Mayor Leads Gas Attack on Dock Pickets

"All right, let 'er go!" shouted a police captain. Then a barrage of tear-gas bombs rained down on Seattle's dock strike pickets from a bridge which police used as a base of action. The attack, directed by Mayor Charles L. Smith ended in the rout of 2000 pickets. But as this photo shows, both sides—police and strikers—were affected by the breeze-blown gas.

Miss Vera Cook and Miss Lois Mellett of Dixon left Wednesday to spend the remainder of the week visiting friends in Joliet and Chicago.

Manager Webber's Compton baseball team added two more thrilling victories to their credit as West Brooklyn and Ashton were defeated on the local lot Sunday afternoon.

In spite of his terrific heat a large number of fans were present to witness the continuous march of the local club.

West Brooklyn played in the first game and lost by a score of 10 to 5. Olson did the twirling for Manager Augenbaugh's team, and was rapped for sixteen hits, while A. Chason on the mound for the localization proved able to hold his own, by giving nine hits to the visitors.

West Brooklyn had the Compton team on the edge, when early in the second inning scored four runs.

Compton batters got started in the third inning, and was able to put themselves into the lead in the fifth by three more runs.

West Brooklyn scored again in the sixth when Mosimann singled, July sacrificed with R. Kohn placing a nice hit into center field to score the former.

Olson struck out to finish the inning. Bradshaw got the only double of the day in the eighth to drive in two of the four runs of the inning.

Ashton with one of the strongest teams seen on the local diamond this season was next, but Compton with Prestegard pitching the entire route in perfect fashion, allowing only two hits was able to nose out the former in a ten inning game by the score of 2 to 1.

Gilroy with many wins to his credit this year pitched for Ashton, on account of control lacked the perfectness to match Compton's pitching ability.

Compton's first run came early in the game when Norman was hit by Gilroy, and who was able to score on Prestegard's single. Ashton tied up the game in the seventh when Zeiler scored on Gehant's error.

Herman in the tenth settled the matter by a single and two stolen bases, scored when Kenney's wild peg to third went astray. Next Sunday afternoon the Compton baseball team will journey to Scarborough for a return game there.

Roman Pottery Kiln Site of First Century Origin

A remarkable Roman-Saxon pottery site dating from the first century, discovered near Wimborne, Dorsetshire, England, was on the ancient Roman road, running between Hamworthy and Badbury Rings.

The kiln itself was destroyed before it could be properly examined. Subsequent excavation laid bare a long narrow stoke-hole about 16 feet long and 5 feet wide. This contained a vast quantity of kiln debris, including the remains of nearly 200 vessels of various kinds, mostly undrained, as well as piles of sand and lumps of clay prepared for potting.

The pottery represented was mostly of five different types, and these form an important group, three types being forms in use in South Britain in the early Iron age, while the two other are varieties introduced by the Romans. The transitional character of the pottery is confirmed by the discovery on the floor of the stoke-hole of a coin of the Emperor Caligula, A. D. 40.

One of the early Iron age types represented is the well known "head-rim" pot. The early Roman forms are basins or mortars provided with a spout, and wide-bellied jugs of buff or pinkish clay fitted with a handle.

Lynching

In law, lynching is the procedure of a self-constituted court that summarily executes a person charged with a flagrant offense. It is not confined to hanging as a means of execution.

IF YOUR BREATH HAS A SMELL YOU CAN'T FEEL WELL

When we eat too much, our food decays in our bowels. Our friends smell this decay coming out of our mouth and call it bad breath. We feel the poison of this decay all over our body. It makes us gloomy, grouchy and no good for anything. What makes the food decay in the bowels? Well, when we eat too much, our bile juice can't digest it. What is the bile juice? It is the most vital digestive juice in our body. Unless 2 pints of it are flowing from our liver into our bowels every day, our movements get hard and constipated and 3% of our food decays in our 23 feet of bowels. This decay sends poison all over our body every six minutes.

When our friends smell our bad breath but we don't and we feel like a whipped animal, don't use a mouthwash or take a laxative. Get at the cause. Take Carter's Little Liver Pills which gently start the flow of your bile juice. But if "something better" is offered you, don't buy it, for it may be a colonic (mercury) pill, which loosens teeth, gripes and scalds the rectum in many people. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name and get what you ask for—25c. ©1934, C.M.C.

OUR COWS AGAIN!

Unloading on the ice some of the 700 bales of hay for our three cows and baby bull.

LITTLE AMERICA, ANTARCTICA, July 17 (via Mackay Radio): Today I took on a new job, just temporarily—melting snow for water for the cows. They drink 12 gallons of water a day and that means we have to melt several dozen pails of loose snow every 24 hours. With our little stove this is not easy. But, then, none of our work down here is easy so it is all part of the game.

Our three cows and Antarctic leeb, our baby bull, are thriving on a mixed diet of alfalfa, timothy and clover hay and a commercial grain mixture.

We have almost more milk than we know what to do with but we appreciate its benefits to our health and there is nobody here on the ice who dislikes it. Our cows are producing milk as follows:—Kiln-dike Nira 30 pounds per day (meaning almost 15 quarts), Deerfoot 31 pounds daily and Foremost Southern Girl 23 pounds. And that is considerable milk for 56 men!

The climate here, with temperatures frequently from 50 to 60 degrees below zero, apparently has no effect on our cattle. The body heat of the cows and the bull keeps their undersnow barn reasonably warm even during the coldest days and nights. In their barn, however, we have a stove so that fresh air can be drawn in and passed over it to pre-heat it, so the air in the barn will always be fresh.

The baby bull now weighs about 275 pounds and has all the points of a very good animal. I go in and play with him occasionally but I am regarding the advice we got by radio from expert dairymen at home through the club secretary to be very careful in case of a sudden change of temperament. Young leeb-berg enjoys attention and seems to take an interest in everything and everybody. Edgar Cox, whom we have changed from a carpenter to a cow-hand, says the boys are teaching him bad habits and that he will be hard to handle when he grows up. The dogs seem to like the cow barn, probably on account of the heat, and are extremely friendly toward the cows. Every time a dog gets loose in the tunnels we know where to find him—in the barn. There is a strong possibility that we shall run out of canned butter, of which we brought a large supply with us. We should worry. We have a churn and fresh butter should taste pretty good to us.

I am glad to learn, by radio, that the club is still going ahead in splendid fashion with new members coming in every day. Remember, membership in this unique organization is free and every member receives, without charge, a membership card and a big working map of the Antarctic regions. All you have to do to join is to write to me at our American headquarters and enclose a clearly self-addressed, stamped envelope. Address Arthur Abels, Jr., President, Little America Aviation and Exploration Club, Hotel Lexington, 48th Street and Lexington Avenue, New York, and our club staff will do the rest.

GERMANY SEEKS TO CLEAR SELF OF BIG PUTSCH

Minister is Recalled from Vienna: Order Closes Border

Berlin July 26.—(AP)—Germany officially maintained a strict neutral course today, struggling to steer clear of any implication in the Austrian Nazi uprising.

The German minister to Austria, Herr Rieth, was recalled for his unauthorized intervention in Vienna and the Austro-German frontier was closed.

The recall of Rieth was regarded as highly indicative of how anxious Germany is, in view of her difficult foreign position, to assure the world that the third reich is not involved in the Austrian situation.

In the same light was regarded the official announcement that the border has been closed to all political fugitives from Austria.

The Rieth recall, however, was further interpreted as a move to provide Chancellor Hitler with first hand accounts of the Austrian putsch.

No Indication of Blame. There has been no indication as to whether Rieth is being blamed for his intervention, or for marking Germany as being connected with the uprising.

A brief government communique was issued today, emphasizing only that the minister acted "without the consent of the government" in conducting the negotiations which ended the siege of the chancellery.

As for Rieth, he told the Associated Press by telephone from Munich:

"The German minister only assisted on the urgent request of the Austrian government to cry halt to the imminent bloodshed."

Living Our Everyday Lives

WHY BE A FOGGY?

By Dr. Joseph Fort Newton
There are new fogies as well as old fogies. A new fogie is tragically up to date; an old fogie is pathetically out of date. Each thinks the other is utterly hopeless, and both are right.

They are as much alike as two of a kind. One has closed his mind to the past, the other to the future. To the old fogie everything that is new is wrong, to the new fogie all that is old is absurd.

Some men are old fogies at seventy-five; others become new fogies at twenty-five. Mental sclerosis is as common at twenty-eight as it is at eighty; it is a set of the mind, not a thing of years.

Few men, said William James, have any fresh ideas after they are twenty-five. It is an appalling fact, if true; and it is true enough to keep up mentally alert, lest we cease to grow and die at the top. It is the old men who stop thinking who become useless; not bald-headed men but men with bald-headed ideas. If they are laid on the shelf, it is because they no longer live expectantly with forward outlook.

As for the old man who has kept his mind open and his heart warm, his price is above rubies. If the winter has come to his head, it is because the summer has gone to his heart, where there is bird-song. If an old fogie forgets nothing, a new fogie remembers nothing. Hear new-fogey talk: "We shall not long concern ourselves with pre-Freudian ideas of psychology, sociology, religion, philosophy, economics, law."

There it is plain and flat—six major fields of human effort are gone without a trace—a rather clean sweep. History began yesterday; the past is bunk and junk. Wisdom waited long to be born on earth!

By all means let us be open-minded, but let us keep our minds open at both ends, as ready and eager to listen to St. Bernard as we are to Bernard Shaw—if, alas, he has not now become a hopeless old fogie!

Why be a fogie of any sort? He is wise who, facing the future, keeps his mind responsive to the past, thrillingly aware of more truth ahead, more light to break forth, more work to do, more songs to sing.

A HEALTH TEST

Most of us are acquainted with the different types of tests designed to establish the possible existence of disease. We know, for example, of the Schick test for diphtheria, the Wassermann test for syphilis, etc.

But is there a test to establish the existence of health? Bizarre though this query may appear to be, it is not entirely without sense and reason.

There are some patients who, without warrant, believe they are sick and who present clinical pictures which are very convincing. How can the fiction of such illnesses be established? Of course convictions, must give the benefit of the doubt, to the complaining patient.

In this trying situation, the physician has at his command a test which may properly be described as of generic quality. Unlike most other tests, it does not establish the existence of any specific disease, but rather indicates in a broad way whether the individual is healthy or is ailing.

This test is technically designated as the red cell sedimentation test. It is based upon the observation of the speed with which the red cells of a given quantity of blood placed in a test tube tend to settle to the bottom.

The test is made by taking a small quantity of blood and mixing it with a chemical solution which will keep it from clotting (sodium citrate). The blood is left standing in a test tube, and the rate of the settling of the cells is noted in terms of distance and time.

Experience has shown that if the red blood cells sink at a slower rate than 6 millimeters in 45 minutes, it may be taken for granted that the individual has no significant or destructive illness. A speedy drop suggests the existence of some abnormal process.

Highway Patrol Cars Convoy Food Trucks to Strike Zone

Like destroyers at sea darting about a heavy cruiser, the glistening white cars of the state highway patrol convoyed heavy food trucks from outlying districts into San Francisco, where the food was to be distributed to citizens by city and state officers. First Lady ambitions are far from the thoughts of Mrs. Ole Olson, wife of North Dakota's lieutenant governor who is claiming the governor's chair since the state supreme court ruled for ouster of Gov. W. H. Langer. She intends to stay on the Olson 400-acre farm near New Rockford, N. D., and is shown here giving her undivided attention to Minna, 6 months old, youngest of the nine Olson children.

AUSTRIAN NAZI COUP DEFEATED BY GOVERNMENT

Mussolini said that he would defend Austria independence. Immediate indication was that Italy would take military action.

Wife Awaited Dollfus.

Frau Dollfus, too, had awaited her husband there. She was told of his assassination and went at once by airplane to be with his body. She found it lying in state with a guard of soldiers but it was left alone while she saw him for the last time.

Venna appeared a city of tragedy. Large black funeral banners flew from all public buildings, from theatres and from many shops and homes. The sorrowful face of Dollfus clearly revealed the public tension and the uncertainty of Austria's future.

Placards announcing martial law were posted everywhere. Steel-helmeted police as well as the Heimwehr were in the streets with machine guns posted at strategic corners.

It looked like a city under foreign occupation.

No Nazi Executed.

In connection with the creation of the special military court to punish the men who had made the putsch, it was pointed out bitterly in some circles that although Dollfus died less than 24 hours after the first terrorist was hanged under his anti-terror decree, no Nazi had yet been executed in Austria.

The man who was hanged for a bombing was a Socialist. Despite the severity of his decree, Dollfus was known as one who hated to impose the death penalty.

Florisdorf, the Socialist section which was these scenes of the heaviest artillery fighting last February during the battle between the government and the Socialists was the quietest section of Vienna today. However, very few black flags of mourning were displayed there.

Claim Order Prevails.

A communique by the secretary of the state of public security said: "In Vienna and the provinces, with the exception of Styria, order prevails."

"The revolt in certain sections of Styria has already collapsed," thanks to the energetic action of law enforcement agencies.

"Large detachments of troops are present are marching on Liezen, Leoben and Graz to suppress all vestiges of revolt."

Private advices from Styria said Nazi troops in uniform were guarding many railway stations.

A few hours after he had been jailed Dr. Rintelen, the choice of yesterday's putschists to succeed Dollfus, was shot in his cell. Officials said he tried to commit suicide.

Rintelen was taken to a hospital in a critical condition. He regained consciousness long enough to scribble "I am innocent." The Nazis had falsely proclaimed over the radio yesterday that he had been named chancellor. He died a few hours later.

Friend Arrested.

General Wagner, the Austrian ally, a close friend and adviser of Rintelen, was arrested at Graz. A motor tour through districts reported in the hands of the government revealed several were still held by Nazis.

The Associated Press found Ratzersburg on the Yugoslav border, reported at 10 A. M. to belong to the government, actually to be in the control of Nazis at noon.

The situation at Ratzersburg is unusually important because of its location on the border. It is one of the towns divided by a peace treaty boundary and if Austrian troops should engage in heavy fighting there Yugoslavia might become involved.

News that Italian soldiers were camped on the border caused alarm or reassurance—according to the viewpoint.

Nazi Under Arrest.

A group of fanatical Nazis, variously estimated at from 144 to 300, whose daring seizure of the chancellery yesterday resulted in Dollfus' assassination, was held under heavy guard in a military barracks.

Their guarantee of safe conduct to Germany, made by Emil Fey, former vice chancellor and Heimwehr leader, was revoked by the government when the "Gamecock Chancellor" was found dead.

Dr. Kurt Schuschnigg, minister of social welfare in Dollfus' cabinet, who had been named Acting Chancellor by Miklas, indicated in his first official statement that policies of the Nazi victim would be carried out.

"The chancellor is dead," he said, "but his work lives in Austria and we call the world to witness that we still in this hour are advance fighters for German culture x x x The Dollfus testament remains our guiding star to the future."

Minister Succeded.

Dr. Anton Rintelen, minister to Rome arrested when his name was connected with reports the Nazis were establishing their own government, was reported to have died of wounds received possibly in an attempt suicide in his cell.

Authorities said the minister shot himself but this was denied by his widow.

The Nazi conspirators, wearing Heimwehr uniforms, swooped down on the chancellery yesterday afternoon and, killing Dollfus, held control of the building for six hours.

They compelled Fey to go to the balcony time and again to reassure the crowd outside, and order troops and police not to harm Nazis.

When night fell they arranged with Fey for safe conduct to the border.

Although he spoke guardedly, Dr. Schuschnigg expressed disapproval of the part Herr Rieth, Germany's minister to Vienna, played in arranging safe conduct for the perpetrators of the putsch.

Berlin dispatches said Rieth had been recalled because of his participation in these negotiations.

Press Attacked German.

The semi-official Reichspost, attacking the minister, said: "To Minister Rieth fell the task unexampled in history of negotiating with criminals who had killed the chancellor of a German state for their admission into Germany."

"This demand for the putschists to be brought across the German border gives a clear indication of who planned and organized this day."

The cabinet remained in session all night.

WITNESS TELLS OF KILLING OF LITTLE PREMIER

Dollfuss Had No Opportunity to Save Self from Murder

Vienna, July 26—(AP)—The dying words of Engelbert Dollfuss, "gamecock chancellor," were for his wife and children.

And Dollfuss, staunch Catholic and defender of the faith, died without the fulfillment of his final wish—a priest. Dollfuss with a close of Pope Pius.

Graphic account of the little for's end at the hands of Nazi enemies was given by Herr n new Austrian propaganda chief, Dollfuss was in a corridor of the chancellery building when he heard the plotters, Adan said.

Tried to Escape
"He went into his own office from there," the official continued, "where an office boy followed him and urged him to flee into the building of the state archives adjoining the chancellery. The Chancellor agreed to this proposal.

"On his way to the office of the Federal president he had to pass the so-called congress hall which also has a door leading to the corridors.

"As he entered the congress hall, the door was broken in by the putschists, and a group of ten or twelve followed their leader into the room, rushing with drawn pistols upon the Chancellor.

"Two shots were fired at close range. One shot hit Dollfuss in the throat and the other below the shoulder.

"To defend himself the Chancellor raised both hands against his face, turned a little sideways and dropped backwards to the floor.

Called For Help
"He called out twice in a faint voice 'help! help!' and then was silent.

"The office boy, who witnessed the shooting, believed the Chancellor was dead. The lad was led from the room and Dollfuss remained with those who shot him.

"After a short time Minister Fey (Emil Fey, former vice chancellor), was called by the putschists.

"The Chancellor was lying on a couch, his head covered with cloth, and Fey saw the blood-soaked first aid bandage with which he had been wrapped.

"In a weak, but still determined voice, the Chancellor bade Fey to take care of his wife and children."

Died Amid Enemies
Adan said, "we do not yet know exactly what hour our chancellor gave up his soul, but we know that he was without medical assistance and also that his request for a last sacrament in his hour of death remained unfulfilled."

"So the chancellor died alone. His last sigh was heard only by his enemies."

A priest was denied Dollfuss, Adan related, but when his body was put on a bier as crucifix and two candles were placed at his head. Four soldiers stood guard over the body.

By applying sparingly a solution of thirty grains of sulphur chloride dissolved in an ounce of carbon disulphide, an ordinary cold tire patch can be made self-vulcanizing. The patch will automatically become vulcanized after the tire has been driven for a short time.

Perishes in Effort to Scale Everest

The daring attempt of Maurice Wilson (above) to climb Mount Everest alone failed dramatically when, according to his porters, he perished on the gale-swept glaciers but 6,000 feet short of his goal. A former British Army captain, Wilson, disguised as a Tibetan to elude authorities, made the forbidden ascent after weeks of training in an attempt to join the Union Jack atop the peak.

Minneapolis Battle That Sent 50 to Hospitals

Here the camera records a moment in the brief but terrific street battle in which Minneapolis police shot down nearly 50 pickets. As seen in the center of this photo, an open truck driven by strikers had attempted to intercept a high, closed truck loaded with groceries. This precipitated the bitter fighting, and police with upraised rifles are shown driving the pickets and panic-stricken onlookers from the scene.

The PEOPLES COLUMN

FROM DR. DORNBLASER
Nowawes, (bel Potsdam), Blucher Str. 11, July 14, 1934.

The Dixon Daily Telegraph,
Dear editor:—My return trip to Germany on the American liner Maritima was very pleasant. We had sunshine and a smooth sea all the way. The average speed of the ship was 23 miles an hour. On account of the dense fog on the North Sea we reached Hamburg about ten hours behind schedule time.

The photographers of the ship insisted to have the pictures of the oldest and the youngest passenger on board. So it happened that dear little Maria Tressler, 2 years old, was placed beside me on a chair supported by the ship's nurse. This photo circulated quite extensively among the passengers. I did not send any of these photos to America because my picture was so much more than that of little Maria.

At the Central Station in Hamburg they did not ask us to open our trunks or satchels for inspection as heretofore.

We were required to report the amount of cash money we carried with us and the officials recorded the number and the amount of the traveling express checks in our possession.

Otherwise we had no trouble whatever. All officials and railroad conductors treated us most cordially.

To a stranger the political and social condition seems perfectly agreeable to the masses of the people. Adolf Hitler is the honored hero of the hour. His sober example has improved the morale of the younger generation. His heroic dictation has put the nude dancers in the movies out of business. The photos of Hindenburg and Hitler have been substituted in the store windows in place of the immoral dancers in the shows of Berlin. In some large windows I have counted as many as a dozen fine photos of Hitler, and in the center a large picture of Hindenburg. These two men, the one 87, the other 45 years of age, have joined hands to make Germany a safe and comfortable place to live in.

The poor, the sick, the aged and the unemployed are taken care of as never before. Since Hitler is in power the pensions of the old people have been increased. As is well known he gives his entire salary to feed the poor and unemployed. Some asked him why he did not get married. His answer was "I am married to Germany, and it requires all my time and energy to take care of her."

A few days ago I was invited by the Women's Club to attend the commencement of the American school in Berlin. They honored me with a seat beside our Ambassador, Mr. Dodd, of North Carolina, who made the closing speech. Among the 60 or more pupils each state, almost, was represented by one or two children.

At present the American church is trying to keep up Sunday services.

A young Presbyterian preacher from California, who is a student in the Berlin University, has supplied the pulpit for several Sundays. I am glad to say my health was never better.

The severe knockdown by the street car in Chicago has improved the circulation of my blood and the doctor says my blood pressure is that of a man 45 years of age, though they celebrated my 94th birthday on the 27th of June, 1934.

Many thanks for the many birthday greetings from America.

Yours in fraternity, charity and loyalty,

T. F. DORNBLASER.

For their fourth annual picnic the members of the Kimball club entertained their families at a picnic Sunday in Sterling at Lawrence park. This gathering is always one to which the crowd looks forward throughout the year and everyone certainly had a fine time and plenty to eat at the picnic dinner.

Two birthdays were celebrated during the day. They were those of Mrs. Carrie Montean and Mrs. Bernice Jackson. After the sumptuous meal the young folks entertained themselves with the park playground apparatus and went swimming, while the older folks visited and enjoyed the delightful concert by the Municipal band.

Those at the picnic were Mr. and Mrs. Henry Lauff and family and Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Lauff and family, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Stein, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Wimple, Mr. and Mrs. Chris Winkle, Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Fog, fatal nemesis of aviators and mariners, has been conquered by chemists of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.
